

HIST 2500 (University of Pittsburgh)

Latin American Readings

Instructor: Reid Andrews

Tuesday, 1:00-3:25

This course introduces students to recent efforts to conceptualize, theorize, and analyze Latin America as a region. The goal of the course is to explore how authors in diverse disciplines--history, the social sciences, cultural studies--have sought to understand the region's long-term historical development, and to examine how explanatory paradigms in Latin American studies have evolved over the last 30-40 years. Students will also learn quite a bit about the history of the region.
